Mickey House

Mickey Lynn Opens

Oh, Mickey. She's so fine.

And her new studio? Might blow your mind. The local jeweler's just taken up residence at the ultra-artsy Tula Arts Center on Bennett Street's gallery row.

The shop pays homage to Lynn's signature mix of classy indulgence. White floors, faux suede walls, and floating shelves house unique designs, like the aquamarine stone line with two-sided silver and gold bimetal fusion, and hammered eighteen-karat gold hoops with shimmering diamond dust finish.

Walk-ins are welcome to peruse the jewels and charms at her back room metalsmith station, and Lynn will gladly schedule evening appointments for private commissions.

Right now, we're hyped over her new mix-and-match mini charm necklaces, fashioned after clients' lives, loves, and memories.

In other words, she'll take you by the heart when she takes 'em in her hands.

Mickey Lynn, 75 Bennett Street, suite f2, Buckhead (404-214-6077).
