Young Blood Gallery and Boutique moves, plus special deals for Lucky readers. By Amy Flurry

Lucky on the loose:

inman park

Two eclectic stretches between Old Fourth Ward and Poncey Highlands have created a rare-to-the-city walkable shopping hub.

TRACY EWELL COSMETICS & SKINCARE
775 Lake Ave. NE, 404-588-9151 Post-Hurricane Katrina, makeup artist Tracy Ewell relocated her highly successful skincare and cosmetics business from New Orleans to this charming location within a Victorian-era home.

LAKE AVENUE NE

JAC
245 N. Highland Ave., Ste. 120, 404-681-4696 Owner Jaclyn Efron, a former magazine editor from New York, handpicks emerging labels and crowd-pleasing lines, including Built by Wendy, Yarborough, and the A.P.C. spin-off Madras.

N. HIGHLAND AVENUE

THE SOSHOELITE
240 N. Highland Ave., 404-525-2103 Karen Turner found an untapped niche for her four-month-old shoe store: mid-priced styles from a roster of little-known global names like Spaniard Armand Basi and Marcello Toshi of Peru. Rounding out the selection are jewelry by June Shin and Linea Pelle bags.

ADAPTATION FLORAL DESIGN

316 N. Highland Ave., 404-577-1910 Pale brick walls, concrete floors, and midcentury decor are the backdrop for this artsy florist's modern arrangements. The growing retail section up front is flush with inventive gifts and home items.

CITY ISSUE

325 Elizabeth St. NE, 678-999-9075 Twice the size of its old Buckhead digs, this 1950s vintage furniture and accessories purveyor has broken up the cavernous area with beautifully staged living spaces.
